Qualities in focus:
Target group, age of the students:	From 16 years (from grade 10)
Suitable for:	European Union today
Teaching aids, preparation:	PC, projector, PowerPoint
Time needed:	45 minutes
Description of activity:	At the beginning of the unit, the students are presented with various election posters for the 2019 European elections. Based on the pointed statements, the students can quickly assess the attitude of the respective parties to the EU. In the discussion, the students compare and justify their assessments. In the consolidation, the students are asked to recall the founding motives of the European Union from the previous unit. The students are asked to find parallels in the argumentation patterns of the election posters and the founding motives by means of a padlet. In doing so, the students deconstruct the narrative structure of the election posters and present it clearly to others (methodological competence). In a subsequent short round of comparison, the students are given the opportunity to supplement their padlet if necessary and to point out further connections. Finally, the students are asked to comment on one of the presented posters by writing a letter to one of the parties and to refer to the founding motives of the EU in their argumentation. In the last task, the students use the motives as a means of orientation in order to be able to make a judgment in the present.
